WU ASKS FOR TIME IN WAR ON BANDITRY; GETS A WEEK

Diplomatic Corps Will Hold Commission Until 14th

GENERAL'S NOTE

Tells Difficulties Of Situation; Promises Results

(Staff Wire to THE CHINA PRESS)

Tsingtau, Dec. 7.—Mr. Chu Shih-ching, chairman of the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce, who was kidnaped by bandits and taken to the mountains on the night of November 30, has been released, according to word received here. He was given his freedom by the brigands night before last on guarantee of ten men and is said to be now in hiding. His ten bondsmen have also disappeared.

The non-co-operation of the Japanese police with regard to the impending arrival of Chinese forces continues and the tension in Tsingtau is increasing as December 10 approaches.

Mr. Chu was taken captive by the Shantung bandits last week, after being invited to a dinner by the brigand leaders. Mr. Mao Shao-fu, special delegate of the Shantung Tuchun on the Sino-Japanese Joint Commission, was also taken captive at that time and prominent Chinese merchants of Tsingtau were thrown into a state of terror when intimations were given that several of them had been marked out for kidnaping.

Peking, Dec. 7.—The Waichiaopu on December 4 forwarded General Wu Pei-fu's reply to the Diplomatic Corps' telegram with regard to the captured foreigners in Honan. The Waichiaopu, quoting General Wu Pei-fu, said that the problem probably will soon be solved and suggested that the Diplomatic Body might temporarily suspend the dispatch of the proposed investigation committee to Honan.

General Wu Pei-fu's telegram which is addressed to the Diplomatic Corps acknowledges the receipt of their telegram and goes on to say that brigandage in Honan has endangered the lives of foreign residents for several months past.

"I, with the military and civil authorities, are doing our utmost to suppress the bandits but owing to their numbers, up to the present it has been impossible to restore order and I have not succeeded in obtaining the release of those kidnapped for which I express deep regret to the British, French, Italian, American and Swedish residents.

"General Chin Yun-ao, the commandant of the 14th Division, has been appointed commandant of bandit suppression throughout the province. He is also charged with the responsibility of rescuing the foreigners. Since his appointment he has made progress. With regard to foreign residents, last month, I, in consultation with the civil and military authorities, decided to adopt the following methods:

"(1) To obtain the release of those captured by means of persuasion and pacification.

"(2) To instruct each district magistrate to note the number and the residences of foreigners and to depute soldiers to afford efficient protection.

"These plans met with considerable success and consequently it was expected that order and normal conditions will shortly be restored and the kidnapped foreigners released. The civil and military authorities heartily welcome the commission of investigation, but in view of the foregoing the coming of the Commission might be deferred. I suggest this for your consideration.—(Signed) Wu Pei-fu."

On December 6 the Diplomatic Corps sent a further note to the Waichiaopu saying that in view of the terms of General Wu Pei-fu's telegram, and the Waichiaopu's communication of December 4 and also the political situation, the Diplomatic Body has fixed December 14 as the date for the departure of the commission for Life has come to be so full of surprises latterly it's not surprising to learn that a person could go along for weeks at a time staring a stack of potential astonishment right in the face without receiving the faintest intimation of the shock in store. Take the case of Moh Ching-kha for instance.

Moh is a watchman by profession and has been living for some little time in a hut on Woosung Road. The other day, as a result of information reaching Hongkew police station, Detective Sergeant Balchin called in and took an inventory. Prominent among the bric-a-bric and furnishings of the place he noted two sizeable tin cans. These he up-ended, dumping a couple of quarts of good, negotiable money upon the table. Near the spot where the tins had rested he found a block of Hwo Wei lottery tickets. Moh threw up both hands and creditably went through the other customary signs of amazement. He had never suspected, he gasped, that there was money in such quantities about the house. As for the lottery tickets, their presence was an even deeper mystery than that of the cash.

At about this stage there appeared Ng Ah-man, 14 years old and an apprentice to a tailor. Ng approached Moh with the familiarity of long acquaintance, extended a handful of small coins and asked for 60 cents worth of chances to win the big prize. Moh faithfully reproduced all his previous facial testimony—indicative of extreme bewilderment. The apprentice, without any rehearsal at all, gave a much more impressive performance.

Moh, Ng, and the Sergeant were in Court yesterday, together with the lottery tickets and the money—$24 in notes, five Mex. dollars, twenty-one 20-cent pieces, ten 10-cent pieces and 537 coppers. Moh maintained stoutly that he knew nothing about this mass of mazuma. It must have been in the house when he moved in, he said, forgotten by the last tenant.

Moh's quarters for the next month, if not so luxurious as his last, will at least include fewer chances for surprises.

A PRODIGAL RETURNS

Dau Yien-ming was seen in heated argument with a woman in an alleyway off Honan Road. The argument appeared to be about a large roll of money which the woman was evidently refusing to take from Dau in exchange for the obviously cheap pair of earrings she wore. The observer, who happened to be a detective's second, was so impressed by the woman's seeming imbecility that he mentioned the incident to his chief, whom he met a little further down the street.

The sleuth was puzzled too and strolled round to the locality mentioned. The controversy was still in full swing and the detective managed to get close enough unobserved to get a good look at the handful of bills Dau flourished. Then he took a good grip on Dau's collar band and led him over to the station, where the sergeant entered a charge of attempt to pass false banknotes. It was also discovered that Dau had been previously on the books and had been expelled from the Settlement.

Dau said he knew that the notes were false but denied that he had been attempting to pass them. He was only attempting to give them to the woman so that she could take them home for the children to play with. He had returned to the Settlement, he said, because he thought his term of exile was for one year only.

Dau will be with us, unostentatiously, for six months and will then return again to the country.

NINE VESSELS WITH REFUGEE RUSSIANS PUT INTO WOOSUNG

Wandering Fleet Of "Whites" Not Allowed To Land

2,000 ARE ABOARD

Six More Boatloads Are Expected Here Shortly

Admiral Stark of the Russian Navy and 2,000 "White" Russian refugees are on board nine Russian vessels anchored at Woosung awaiting permission of the Chinese authorities before any of them are allowed to land, or the ships are allowed to come up the river.

Admiral Stark arrived on the flagship of his refugee fleet of 15 vessels on Tuesday, three other ships anchored off Woosung Wednesday night and the other six anchored during the day yesterday. Six other ships carrying about 2,000 refugees are said to be on their way to China and are expected at Woosung within a few days. The other ships in the refugee fleet are strung out at various ports between Vladivostok and Shanghai where they have been attempting to land for the last month.

The fleet sailed from Vladivostok with refugees said to number between 4,000 and 5,000 just before the "Red" forces took Vladivostok after the withdrawal of Japanese forces from Siberia, and the continued defeat of the White Guards. All on board the 15 vessels, including the nine now anchored off Woosung, are officers and men of the White Guards, their wives and families, and officials of the old regime in Siberia who were fearful of their lives if they stayed in Vladivostok and environs under the Red regime.

As soon as it became evident that the Whites would not be able to stand up against the Soviet forces during the Japanese withdrawal the "Whites" all boarded the Russian ships in the harbor at Vladivostok preparatory to fleeing at the last minute before the Reds took command of the city. As soon as the last Japanese withdrew and the Soviet troops marched up to the city limits of Vladivostok the refugees set sail for Gensan, Korea, the mecca of thousands of other Russian refugees since the White debacle in Siberia.

Gensan, however, is already greatly overcrowded with thousands of refugees and piteous tales of their suffering for want of clothing, food and the other necessities of life—they had nothing except the scanty belongings they were able to take with them—have caused numerous relief organisations to take action in their behalf. The additional refugees on Admiral Stark's fleet were consequently refused the right to land.

The fleet then sailed for Japan and made attempts to land at several ports, but were met with firm refusals from the Japanese authorities as the refugees are said to be penniless as well as without necessities and the Japanese authorities refused to be responsible for them in cities strange to them without funds. After considerable negotiations had been gone through between Admiral Stark and the Japanese authorities, the Japanese furnished the refugees with a supply of food and clothing and provided enough coal for the ships to steam to China.

Nine of the vessels having already arrived at Woosung the Chinese authorities there have been requested to allow them to land under the assumption that they would be able to get work or assistance from an international community the size of Shanghai. The Chinese authorities, however, are fearful of the consequences of allowing such a large number of penniless and out-of-work men and women to land in Woosung and are said to have refused permission to allow any of them to land until they are guaranteed sleeping quarters of some kind on land, and provision has been made for their support.

HARBIN CHINESE COMPROMISE ON TRAMWAYS SUIT

Will Pay In Million Dollars And Work Will Proceed If Governor Sanctions

Chinese who negotiated with the Beckman and Linden Company of San Francisco for the construction of an electric light plant and tramways in Harbin, have agreed to deposit $1,000,000 within 30 days and litigation has been suspended for a month. Attorney John W. Schoenfeld, of Schuhl and Schoenfeld, attorneys for the American corporation, returned from Harbin yesterday where suit had been filed.

By the settlement reached, work on the public utilities plants will be continued by the San Francisco firm if the Governor supports the plan. If not, other arrangements will be made whereby the Chinese will pay all expenses incurred by Beckman and Linden, as well as legal fees. No order for the payment of the $1,000,000 was made by the court, action being suspended as a compromise was reached.

The Shanghai attorneys brought suit for $6,000,000 against the Harbin Chinese.

Mr. R. D. Adams, agent for Messrs. Beckman and Linden, will arrive here from Harbin next Friday.

Chang Shou-tseng To Be Nominated As Premier Monday

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Dec. 7.—It is reported that the nomination of General Chang Shou-tseng as Premier will be placed on Monday's agenda and not tomorrow as first expected. As the Constitution requires the endorsement of a permanent Premier by both Houses, the Senate will hold a special meeting tomorrow when the question of the Speakership will again be discussed. Party rivalries still threaten to block the matter and a group of Senators now propose to elect a temporary Speaker so that the vote on the Premiership can be taken. Meanwhile political attention is centering on the forthcoming gathering at Paotingfu on the occasion of General Tsao Kun's birthday for which General Wang Cheng-ping and General Tsao Jui left for Paoting yesterday evening. There is reason to believe that the Paoting gathering will discuss the personnel of General Chang Shou-tseng's proposed Cabinet. If powerful opposition to General Chang Shou-tseng's Premiership arises his nomination may be withdrawn.

U. S. TREASURY OFFICIAL TO OPEN PRICES INQUIRY

U. S. Government Official To Investigate Customs Invoice Figures

The United States Treasury Attache who is to open the price investigation office in Shanghai, authorised by the Secretary of the Treasury in October, will arrive in Shanghai in the near future, according to information received in Shanghai yesterday. Who the new official is has not been announced here as yet.

The establishment of the Treasury office, which has been closed for five years, was authorised by the Treasury Department in October following protests by customs officials at the invoice values of China merchandise shipped to the United States.

One of the chief complaints is said to have been made against chinaware shipped to America from Shanghai, Chefoo and Tsinan. Complaints have also been made against the importation of straw slippers from Hongkong and Canton and silk work and linens from Chefoo.

Canned goods are also under investigation and it is understood that bamboo shoots, lichee nuts and fish will be especially investigated by the new attache.

It is expected that the investigations of the new attache will result in certain provisions of the anti-dumping law being enforced against certain China products, according to the information received here.

Anthrax Congress Proposes Plan To Checkmate Disease

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 6.—The International Anthrax Commission today passed a resolution, including on the agenda of the next conference of the International Labor Office a draft convention requiring hairs and wools used in brush-making and upholstering and in the textile industry to be disinfected before they are handled industrially except where the country of origin is included in the schedule of countries where the danger is slight, or the material effectively disinfected before shipment.

Sir Thomas Oliver, who represents Australia, suggested that wool might be disinfected at the Liverpool station on behalf of those countries which were not prepared to erect their own stations.

The Chairman, Sir William Middlebrook, did not desire to impose compulsion to send goods to Britain but he thought that he could assure the meeting that there would be no differentiation in charges between one nation and another.

Bishop Molony To Officiate At Service In Holy Trinity Cathedral; Honor Roll Numbers 213

O Valiant Hearts, who to your glory came Through dust of conflict and through battle flame;
Tranquil your lie, your knightly virtue proved,
Your memory hallowed in the land you loved.

On Sunday next, at 10:30 a.m. the Right Rev. Bishop Molony, D.D., will dedicate the Memorial Chapel in Holy Trinity Cathedral, to the 213 Shanghai men who fell in the Great War.

A special service has been arranged by the Dean and Chapter, at which the Bishop will preach and the choir will sing the beautiful "Ode to the Fallen," and the impressive Kieff Melody "Contakion of the Departed."

The Memorial Chapel is now ready, except for a beautiful lamp which will be suspended from its ceiling.

The walls have four oak panels containing the names of all those connected with the Cathedral, or Shanghai, and two further panels, the one in memory of the late Sudean which reads:

"In loving memory of William Harold Price, Priest in this Cathedral, who served as Chaplain in H. M. S. Triumph at the Dardanelles 1915.

"Died May 21, 1917, and was buried at Montreal on his way to rejoin H. M. Forces.

"His memory is blessed in Shanghai."

The second panel is:

"In memory of Sir Everard Duncan Fraser, K. C. M. G., H. B. M. Consul-General at Shanghai for eleven years, including the period of the Great War.

"He died on March 20, 1922, honoured and beloved as a Christian Gentleman.

"His body rested in this Chapel awaiting burial and his name "Liveth for Evermore."

The Chapel also contains an artistic oak reredos, the work of Messrs. Hems of Exeter, England, and depicts the ascended and glorified Christ comforting the woman and children who are kneeling at his feet. On either side of this central picture are groups of soldiers, boldly clad in modern war equipment, and in relief in each group is a soldier who has paid the supreme sacrifice with an angel placing a laurel wreath upon his head.

The whole reredos is finely conceived and beautifully executed. Just under the figures are the words: "The Angel of His Presence saved them" and fronting the oak altar is the phrase "Greater Love Hath No Man."

The panels are surmounted by six stained glass windows. The two facing South picture Sir Percival and Galahand, and the four on the North side represent the figures of four angels.

At the head of the panelling is the inscription: "To the glory of God and in honoured memory of those connected with the Cathedral and Shanghai, who fell in the Great War, 1914-1918, this Chapel is dedicated."

The Cathedral authorities would like it known that all pew holders should be in their places on Sunday morning by 10:15 a.m. as after that time the seats will be opened to the general public.

In the evening of the same day the Bishop will administer the rite of Confirmation to a number of candidates. He will also be the preacher.

Mr. R. C. Young, the organist, has arranged special music for both services.

DR. TONG TRIAL ON AGAIN TODAY AT NANTAO COURT

Editors Of Shanghai Journal Of Commerce Summonsed; Foreign Lawyers Barred

The trial of Dr. F. C. Tong, charged with obtaining $5,000 from Miss Zih Zang-tseng, his mailing clerk, will be resumed in the Nantao District Court this afternoon at 1 o'clock. Dispatch summonses have been served on Shen Chung-hua and Chiu Yue-sing, editors of the Journal of Commerce, of which Tong was manager and on Yin Chi-shen of the Shang Bank and K. P. Wang, secretary of the Peking Chinese Bankers' Association.

The local Chinese press reports that the request of the family of Tong that the court allow foreign lawyers to defend Tong has been refused by the Chinese judicial authorities.

Shanghai Chamber Protests Increases

The General Chamber of Commerce of Shanghai yesterday telegraphed to the Military and Civil Governors of this province, asking for the rescinding of the order for the increase of the telegraph and postal tariffs, which went into effect on December 1.

Both the Chambers here and at Hangchow had previously asked the Ministry of Communications to rescind the order but the requests were ignored. Following the request of the Hangchow Chamber, the authorities of Chekiang had already forbidden the local telegraph and postal administrations within the province to charge the increased rates.

Consequently, the Shanghai Chamber is now following the footsteps of Hangchow by seeking relief from the provincial rather than the national government.

UNEXPECTED TOKIO DEMAND HALTS POSTAL CONFERENCES

Ask Recognition Of Offices In Manchuria

CHINESE REFUSE

Agreement Ready For Signature When Hand Was Shown

(Special To The China Press)

Peking, Dec. 7.—The Sino-Japanese negotiations regarding the removal of post-offices were suddenly and indefinitely postponed today because of the insistence upon the part of the Japanese envoys that China should sign an agreement recognising the post-offices in the Manchurian railway zone as being "in all respects the same as the imperial Japanese post-offices."

The Chinese envoys refused assent to this on the ground that to sign such an agreement would be equivalent to recognising Japan's "special rights" in Manchuria. The Chinese delegates said, however, that they were willing to give verbal consent to the continuance of the offices for the present.

The Chinese delegates maintain that this is a serious diplomatic question for the Peking foreign office.

The final agreement was ready for signatures yesterday when the Japanese delegates made their unexpected demand.

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, December 6.—The following is a translation of the full text of the agreement on the details of the Shantung issue:

In order to discuss items relative to the transfer of and the reparation for the Shantung Railway based on the Washington Treaty, concerning the settlement of the pending Shantung issue, signed at Washington on February 4, 1922, namely, February 4 of the 11th Year of the Republic of China, the Japanese Government has appointed Mr. Obata, Japanese Minister to Peking, Dr. Akiyama, Chief of the Civil Administration of Tsingtao, and Mr. Ohmura, a railway engineer, while the Chinese Government appointed Dr. C. T. Wang, Director General of the Rehabilitation of Shantung Rights, Mr. Lao Shi-chang, Vice-Minister of Communications, Mr. Lu Meng-hsiung and Mr. Yen Teh-ching, a councillor and an engineer, respectively, of the Department of Communications, as executive committees on the Sino-Japanese Joint Commission, who, accordingly, have met in Peking and have agreed to the following items:

CHAPTER 1

Transfer of the Tsingtau-Tsinan Railway.

Art. 1: Japan, in accordance with Article 10 of the Treaty concerning the settlement of the Shantung issue, agrees to transfer to China the Tsingtau-Tsinan Railway and the branch-lines thereof and all properties belonging thereto at noon on January 1, 1923, that is, January 1 of the 12th Year of the Republic of China.

Art. 2: The transfer of the Railway and the properties belonging thereto referred to above shall be conducted by the committees of Japan and China, who shall complete their transference business within one month after the transfer of the said Railway.

Art. 3: All documents, records, register books, plans and deeds relating to the Railway and properties belonging thereto shall be handed to China within the term stipulated in the foregoing two articles.

CHAPTER 2

Reparation for the Tsingtau-Tsinan Railway.

Art. 4: The sum of the reparation for the Railway and of the properties belonging to the Railway to be paid to the Japanese Government by the Chinese Government in conformity with Article 15 in the Treaty concerning the settlement of the Shantung issue shall be Yen 40,000,000 in Japanese money.

Art. 5: The amount of money referred to above shall be paid to the Japanese Government in the form of exchequer bonds, the face-value of which shall be equivalent to the amount specified in the preceding article.

Art. 6: The exchequer bonds in question are designated as the Tsingtau-Tsinan Railway exchequer bonds.

Art. 7: The exchequer bonds are classified into two kinds of Yen 100,000 and 1,000,000.

Art. 8: The interest of the exchequer bonds is fixed 6 percent per annum.

Art. 9: The property and the revenue of the Tsingtau-Tsinan Railway shall be the security of the exchequer bonds, and the said security shall not be utilised as the security of either domestic or foreign loans, excepting the case in which a special understanding has been effected between the Japanese and Chinese Governments, when the latter attempts to float a domestic loan for the purpose of redeeming the exchequer bonds in question.

Art. 10: The Chinese Government agrees to apply the revenue of the said Railway to the payment of the principal and interest of the exchequer bonds.

Art. 11: The interest of the exchequer bonds, which is to be reckoned from the first day of the transfer of the exchequer bonds, shall be paid half-yearly.

Art. 12: The Chinese Government pledges itself to exempt all public imposition regarding the receiving and paying of the exchequer bonds, coupons, the principal and interest of the exchequer bonds.

Art. 13: The Japanese Government is qualified, according to its circumstances, to transfer to others at its own free will all or a portion of the exchequer bonds after the delivery by the Chinese Government to the Japanese Government.

Art. 14: The place where the principal and interest of the sum for the redemption of the exchequer bonds is Tokio, Japan, and the transaction as to the payment of the principal and interest shall be conducted by the Yokohama Specie Bank. Owing to some circumstances on the part of the Japanese Government, however, in the event of the place where the principal and interest to be paid and also of the bank, conducting the transaction as to the payment of the same being changed, the Japanese Government shall first negotiate with the Chinese Government. With regard to the method by which the remittance of the principal and interest is to be made to the bank specified, it is provided that the Chinese Government is justified freely to select a bank and draw a bill of exchange in case it remits the principal but that it shall remit interest through the Tsingtau Branch or the Tsinan Branch of the Yokohama Specie Bank. The Chinese Government, however, is permitted to draw a bill of exchange at any other bank, provided the rate of exchange there is lower than the said Branches of the Yokohama Specie Bank.

Art. 15: Prior to the payment of the principal and interest of the exchequer bonds in question, the revenue of the Railway shall be deposited in either the Tsingtau Branch or the Tsinan Branch of the Yokohama Specie Bank. The Japanese Government takes no exception, however, even if the surplus revenue of the Railway, by the option of the Chief Executive of the Railway, will be deposited in any other reliable bank, provided the sum such as is equivalent to the monthly instalment of the interest be reserved in the Branches in question monthly. With regard to the drawing out of the money on deposit, the signatures of the official accountants of both countries are required.

Art. 16: The exchequer bonds shall bear coupons, redeemable half-yearly, the number, the date of delivery, the names and signatures of the representatives of the Chinese Government, the face-value, the interest, the term for redemption, security, the method of paying the principal and interest of the sum to be paid by the Chinese Government, and the names of banks, which are to receive and pay on behalf of the Governments of both countries, such as are necessary for exercising the right of the holders of the exchequer bonds.

Art. 17: All expenses incurred for the making of the exchequer bonds shall be borne by the Chinese Government.

Art. 18: Pending the completion of the said exchequer bonds, the Chinese Government shall first prepare provisional bonds to be handed to the Japanese Government.

The agreement of the Sino-Japanese Joint Commission shall be drafted in duplicate written both in Japanese and Chinese, each one of which shall be kept as a future proof by the Governments of the two countries, after signatures of the Japanese and Chinese commissioners being affixed thereto.

Signed by: Yukichi Obata, Masanoshke Akiyama, Takuichi Ohmura, Wang Cheng-ting, Lao Chi-chang, Lu Meng-hsiung, Yen Teh-ching.

MONEY TRANSFERS

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Dec. 7.—Following the withdrawal of Japanese post-offices in China, it is expected that as a means of remittance between Japan and China, a money-order system will soon be enforced. In view of the fact, however, that most of Japanese residents in China used to remit home by means of giro-transfer savings, the Bank of Chosen has decided to open giro-transfer savings account at Tokio, while the Bank of Taiwan does likewise at Tokio and Osaka. These Banks have also decided to transact giro-transfer savings account at their respective Shanghai Branches with a view to handling remittance on Japan by making use of book-transfer savings account, but they will not, it is reported, handle remittance on China by the same method for the present.

The system, it is understood, will be enforced by the Bank of Chosen as from the 20th instant, and by the Bank of Taiwan as from January 1 of next year.

GEN. LU REJECTS PEKING'S POSTAL AND WIRE BOOSTS

Chekiang Official Gives Four Reasons For Stand

(China Press Service)

Hangchow, Dec. 6.—General Lu Yung-hsiang, Tupan or Director-General of the Rehabilitation of Chekiang, has issued orders to the Postal and Telegraph Administration in this province, repudiating the order of the Ministry of Communications with reference to the increase in the postal and telegraph rates.

In a circular telegram dispatched yesterday General Lu declares that the increased tariff not only imposes a heavy burden upon the people but also impedes the progress of industrial development and inconveniences communications.

General Lu bases his opposition to the new postal and telegraph rates on the following grounds:

1. Inasmuch as the postal and telegraph administrations are governmental enterprises, no change of rates can be warranted without the approval of Parliament having first been obtained.

2. On the eve of the transfer of foreign postal administrations to China in accordance with a decision reached at the Washington Conference, the increase in postal rates at the present juncture will impair China's national credit and lead to unnecessary complications. The first thing that the Chiaotungpu should do is to reform the postal administration but not to increase postal rates.

3. The primary purpose of the establishment of postal and telegraph services was and should be to benefit the people and not to profiteer. In the event of loss being incurred by either or such administrations, the Government should grant subsidies for their maintenance and should not shift the burden on the people.

4. Szechuen, Kwangtung, Fengtien, Kirin, Heilunkiang, Hunan and other provinces are opposed to the increased imposts. At present, when national re-unification is being effected, no issues should be tolerated that tend to defeat that purpose.

Furthermore, General Lu adds that he understands that the increased tariff will be hypothecated for foreign loans and that the Shanghai Telegraph Administration has already been placed under the control of a certain country and its receipts are being deposited with the banks of that country.

French Furnaces Are Near Normal

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Dec. 6.—The number of blast-furnaces in France in activity on November 1 was 209 out of a total of 227 and their production in October was 503,000 tons, an increase of 42,000 tons over that for September. Steel has also been produced in greater quantities namely, 430,000 tons as against 106,000 tons in the preceding month. From January 1 to October 31 the metal output reached a total of 4,102,000 tons of iron and 3,143,000 tons of steel.

ASSESSOR TAKES WITNESS STAND IN TRAFFIC CASE

Testifies In Suit Against C. C. Wu, Who Is Fined $25

Mr. E. W. Mead, British Mixed Court Assessor, who presides every other week over the special traffic branch of that tribunal, appeared yesterday by way of variation, as complaining witness in a traffic case. The defendant was Mr. Chao Chu-wu, the eldest son of the late Dr. Wu Ting-fang.

Assessor Mead testified that he was driving south on Szechuen Road on the evening of November 1, approaching the Nanking Road corner. The policeman on point duty, he said, was stationed so as to check the Nanking Road traffic, but the insistent sounding of the horn by a car coming east on the Nanking Road caused the witness to check his machine before reaching the crossing. The car in question, he continued, passed on in defiance of the signal and he had reported it to the police because he considered it 'one of the most abominable instances of utter disregard for police traffic regulations which he had ever witnessed.

Mr. Wu stated in his defense that he had no intention of disregarding traffic signals. The policeman, he maintained, was not stationed in the ordinary position for checking traffic, but was at the curb corner, and defendant was under impression that he had the right of way.

Other police witnesses, however, testified that the policeman was in proper position and Assessor Ching and Magistrate Li imposed a fine of $10 for disregarding signals and a further fine of $15 for driving without a permit, defendant's license having expired.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

London, Oct. 23.—Sir George Frederick Sleight, first Bart., of Weelsby Hall, Great Grimsby, fish merchant and fishing vessel owner, whose will has just been proved, left a fortune of £992,147.

The late baronet began life by gathering and hawking cockles from Cleethorpes Beach, eventually becoming the largest individual owner of trawlers, J. P. for the county, a former chairman of the Unionist party in the district.

The greater part of his fleet was used during the war for mine sweeping and patrol work. It was for the great service he rendered during the war that he received his baronetcy.

SHANGHAI CREDIT SUFFERS SLUMP IN CHANGCHOW

Weird Newspaper Report Says Local Banks Failed

Shanghai's credit in Changchow, the bustling industrial city on the S. N. Ry., just beyond Wusih, is at a low ebb, according to evidences received by a local foreign firm.

The firm in question was in receipt the other day of an urgent telegram from its Chinese agent in Changchow, the latter desiring that a postal money order for funds be sent him without delay. The local office, having only just transmitted a considerable sum of currency to the applicant, was at a loss to understand the import of the message. Yesterday a letter was received which shed light upon the matter.

The Changchow newspapers, the letter stated, had published a telegraphic despatch purporting to have come from Shanghai and carrying the announcement that all the foreign banks here had failed. Shanghai bank notes, therefore, were being shunned with extreme ardor by the merchants of Changchow, and the crisp stack of H. & S. B. C. notes in the hands of the local firm's agent were of about the same negotiability as a sheaf of cancelled chits.

British Chambers Urge Program Of Aid To Germany

(French Wireless)

Paris, Dec. 6.—General Nollet, President of the Inter-Allied Military Commission of Control in Germany, has ordered the presidents of the provincial commissions to report immediately all cases in which their control has been prevented and all irregularities discovered in the course of their investigations. The principal Commission at Berlin will then take the necessary measures.

The discussions between the German Government and the Bavarian Premier on the subject of the Allied Note on the incidents at Nassau will begin on Tuesday.

At a sitting of the Bavarian Diet the Premier made a speech, violently protesting against the Note from the Council of Ambassadors.

London, Dec. 7.—The executive of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce has submitted a resolution to the Premier urging the granting of a moratorium and international loan to Germany, fixation of reasonable indemnity, international control of the German customs to supervise the imposition of import and export tax to pay the interest of an amortisation loan, and the earliest withdrawal of military occupation.

IN THE FRENCH MIXED COURT

CASE

Messrs. Hennessy & Cie and Noilly Prat & Cie. acting through the person of Mr. Rondon, their General Agent for China and represented by Me. A. du Pac de Marsoulies and Me. Le Gouellec, Barristers-at-law.

(1) Mr. Giesel represented by Me. Fischer, Barrister-at-law

(2) Li Gneu Koueng.

JUDGMENT

Considering the petition of the Plaintiffs dated the 1st of September 1922:

Whereas, acting in pursuance of a regular order issued by this Court of French Police, assisted by the International Police, found during the search made on the 8th of September, 1922, at the godowns of M. Giesel No. 1A Chaofoung Road and at the houses at Yochow Road, cases of vermouth bearing Noilly Prat's label and cases bearing J. Hennessy and Co.'s label, also iron matrixes for the purpose of stamping corks, boxes and percussion caps with the stamp J. Hennessy and Cie Cognac;

Whereas, during a further search at the godowns No. 1A Chaofoung Road was found the book of prescriptions for the counterfeit of liquors, also bottles of products which had served for the manufacture of the said infringement;

Whereas, so much during the examination as during the trial, M. Giesel declared to be unaware of the counterfeit made in his godowns and placed the responsibility on his employees, M. Mack, British subject, more specially in charge of the department of wines and liquors, M. Battistuzzi, Italian subject, chemist, and M. Li Gneu Koueng, second godownman, that he claims to be quite unaware of all that happened in his godowns, his many occupations preventing him in having a steady supervision;

Whereas, M. Giesel, creditor of the American firm Reid's Co., Ltd., now in bankruptcy, has bought the fittings and plants of the said firm, situated at Chaofoung Road; that being established for a very long time at Shanghai he could not be unaware that the said firm manufactured counterfeit of wines and liquors that the number of matrixes for stamping the corks and percussion caps, false labels and all the material and fitting could leave no doubt in his mind upon the offence committed by the former tenant of his godowns; that he can not validly plead the exception of his ignorance and of his good faith for he himself handed to the Court the proof that his predecessors were manufacturing counterfeit and had made by a printing office large quantities of false labels and specially labels of the mark Noilly Prat and Cie; that on his own accord he has confessed to have proceeded with the manufacture of liquors and to have sold products with labels printed by his order intending to deceive the customers upon the source of production;

Whereas, Giesel by his own confession engaged in his service, for the purpose of organising and managing his wine and liquors department precisely the same employees of the firm Reid's Ltd., who were formerly entrusted with the same duties; that only after this engagement he bought the stocks ceded to him by the Mercantile Bank of India and coming from the same firm Reid's;

Whereas, a special laboratory has been established at the godowns of the accused; that the installation of such an office would be difficult to understand if it, for the case being, was only to be for the brewing of beer and for the decantage and filtration of wines and liquors which M. Giesel sold; that at this laboratory were large quantities of bottles of spices serving for the manufacture of liquors, that precisely on the table of this laboratory there was found the book of prescriptions for the manufacture of the counterfeited spirits, that the first samples of the counterfeit of cognac and vermouth bear the dates of the 10th May, 2nd and 16th June, 1922; that on the 11th May, 1922, a bottle of Hennessy's cognac purchased as sample, had been paid for by Giesel;

Whereas, on the 30th June, 1922, Giesel ordered from M. M. Clerici Bedoni and Co., a 100 litres cask of "grappa di moscato" and paid the bill for that purchase on the 31st August, that the "grappa" comes in a certain part to the composition (80 litres) of the counterfeited Hennessy's Cognac, as it appears from the book of prescriptions, found on the table of the laboratory; that Mack and Battistuzzi claim, but without bringing proofs, to have bought 12 boxes of twelve bottles each or 45 litres of that product, that on the other hand, Giesel cannot supply any explanation of the use of the "grappa" purchased by him;

Whereas, Giesel himself has confessed that spirits were manufactured in his godowns;

Whereas, Giesel rejects all the responsibility of the offence on his employees, who were manufacturing without his knowledge the Hennessy's cognac, declaring that the mentioned fabrication had been made in three days after office hours; that the haste with which the offenders had removed to another place the organce itself is a proof of his non-culpability;

Whereas, the fabrication of the said cognac had taken place on the godowns of Giesel on the first floor and not in a hidden place, that it is positively impossible, as it appears from the book of prescriptions that the 2,384 litres of liquid obtained could be manufactured and bottled and the stamping of corks capsuling of bottles effected in six hours time, after the office hours that one should remark that the hours of regular work of M. Battistuzzi as chemist of M. Giesel commenced precisely after five o'clock p.m.; according to the agreement itself made by the former with M. Giesel;

That the haste to remove from the godowns the cases of cognac of the counterfeited mark shows clearly the desire to make it disappear as quickly as possible all the traces of the offence itself in case of an unforeseen search or even of an inopportune visit; that it proves by no means the innocence of the accused and constitutes a presumption more against him;

Whereas, Giesel has accepted on consignment from the Chinese-American Banking Corporation, 227 cases of Noilly Prat's vermouth; that he pertinently knew that this vermouth was a counterfeited product; that it was agreed with the Manager of the Bank that this product could be sold only on the market after the labels affixed on the bottles were changed and another denomination given to that vermouth;

Whereas, a part of that vermouth has been sold by an employee of M. Giesel, the broker Yah Lee; that the above named has declared to the Court to have sold 118 cases, but that more than 70 cases have been returned to M. Giesel's godowns and from there sent again to Yochow Road whereas during the search there were seized 217 cases of vermouth falsely named Noilly Prat that Yah Lee has sold 48 cases, that therefore the total of cases of the counterfeited vermouth Noilly Prat is 265, a figure higher to that of the cases consigned by the Chinese-American Bank; that the proof seems to be found that Giesel and associates have applied the prescription of counterfeit for the manufacture of false Noilly Prat;

Whereas, Giesel claims that the vermouth in question has been stolen by his employee Mack with the accomplicity of the godownman Li Gneu Koueng; whereas however, Giesel as consignee of a merchandise should give special attention to the keeping of that merchandise, which he knew was counterfeited, that if these cases had not been entered in the register of entries of the godowns, however, notice of same has been taken at the entry too at the delivery by the godownman but who has omitted, probably by order, to mention the transportation of cases to Yochow Road;

Whereas, besides Giesel has been informed since June by his employee Mack of the sale of 230 cases of vermouth without the name of the said vermouth being mentioned to him, that this figure which corresponds exactly to the number of the cases consigned by the Bank should necessarily cause him to enquire about the latter cargo; that as he recognised it being informed from the beginning of pleadings of the theft by his employee Mack he waited several sittings and until the end of the examination of the witness and even without having protested against his attitude in his declaration at the bar, to complain off of his untrue employee; that he also has quite neglected to prosecute the accomplice Li Gneu Koueng;

Whereas, Blumenthal gave evidence that during his numerous visits to the Chaofoung Road godowns, Mack had several times conversed by telephone with the offices of Giesel regarding the counterfeited liquors; whereas this fact is denied by Mack, but the many lies and contradictions noticed during the sitting give few guarantees to his denials;

Whereas, Blumenthal declares not to have requested for the signature of Giesel on the contract for delivery of the cognacs Hennessy, Martell and the vermouth Noilly Prat, having ceded to the reasons given by Mack that Giesel being a German subject and he Mack British subject could not appear together in these affairs, whereas the fact is not contested by Mack who, however, adds that Giesel should be unaware of the whole transaction that a same declaration is made by M. Battistuzzi; whereas these two witnesses are both in the employ of Giesel and are accomplices of the offence reproached to their employer;

Whereas, Blumenthal started the negotiations with Giesel through the medium of his employees only after he found out that there was sold on the market false vermouth Noilly Prat which came, as per his informations, from the Giesel's establishments; that he pushed on with his search only on the reputation of that firm to falsify and counterfeit foreign wines and spirits, that having been brought by a third person to the godowns of M. Giesel at Chaofoung Road he bought there counterfeited products, that the manifest fact of the infringement and of the sale of the infringed products is more than abundantly proved;

Whereas, the infringement exists since there is imitation of the mark, that the fact that the counterfeited products would not be sold, can not diminish the culpability of the forger;

Whereas, the prevocation cannot appear from an action intended for the establishing of a certain fact;

Whereas, in infringement cases it belongs to the accused to bring proofs of his good faith;

Whereas, the Court possesses by direct and indirect proofs the elements of appreciation of the culpability and of the responsibility of the accused, that according to the principles of the modern criminal law the judges have the discretionnary power to appreciate the value and the number of the direct proofs as of the necessary presumptions to constitute the indirect proof;

Whereas, in short Giesel could not be unaware of the manufacture of liquors and spirits made in his godowns at Chaofoung Road by his employees Mick and Battistuzzi, that he has partaken at least indirectly in this fraudulent manufacture by buying the products coming in the composition of the infringed products; that he cannot prove his good faith and cannot plead the exception of his ignorance that he accordingly made himself guilty of the offence contemplated and punished by the articles Nos. 243, 246 and 250 of the Provisional Criminal Code of the Chinese Republic;

Whereas, M. Li Gneu Koueng, watchman of the godowns belonging to Giesel No. 1A Chaofoung Road has admitted to have stored up in his house of Yochow road the infringed products that by so doing he made himself accomplice of the offence charged to Giesel; whereas, however, he was in the employ of Giesel and taking in consideration his position and the Chinese state of mind there should be applicated to him the benefit of extenuating circumstances;

Re: the motion of the Plaintiffs J. Hennessy and Cie.

Whereas, it has been proved that the product of the Plaintiff have been fraudulently infringed by the defendant and his employees; that the manufacture of this infringement has been made at the godowns of Giesel that means in the premises where he had access every day and at any time and where he could and should realise the actions of his employees;

That all the facts of the case points to his imprudence and neglect, also to his culpability and responsibility;

Whereas, the Hennessy's mark has acquired since a very long time on the Chinese market a first class position owing as much to its old reputation as to the quality of the products that the offence committed by Giesel has caused to the mark a great moral and pecuniary prejudice by the depreciation of the value of the merchandise; that he ought to give and amends therefore;

Re: Noilly Prat and Cie.

Whereas, it has been proved that Giesel and his employees have manufactured and sold vermouth bearing the label of Noilly Prat; that the defendant could not be unaware that the product so sold was a rough imitation of the product of the plaintiff since it has been agreed between the Bank consigner and the Defendant that the product thus consigned could be sold only after the labels fraudulently affixed on the bottles have been changed;

Whereas, the mark of Noilly Prat has a universal reputation and has acquired a place at the very first order on the Chinese market by the excellence of its products; that the actions charged to Giesel were of a nature to bring certain discredit to the mark of the plaintiff among the deceived customers; that the plaintiff from this fact sustained a great moral and pecuniary prejudice by the depreciation of the value of the merchandise; that he Giesel ought to give and amends therefore;

Whereas besides one should severely repress all actions of the same nature as those charged to Giesel, that these actions greatly harm the small Chinese merchants who deal with imitations and infringements sold by the defendant; that their clientel deceived on the quality of the products sold by them, diminish from day to day that one should put an end to such facts and bring same to the knowledge of the public through the press;

Therefore

and without taking otherwise in consideration the says and motions of the parties

The Court

judging in equity after consultation.

IN CRIMINAL

By the application of the articles 243, 246 and 250 of the Chinese Provisional Criminal Code;

Sentences Giesel to three years imprisonment and says that this punishment shall be commuted by a fine of taels 3,000;

Confiscates, to be destroyed, all the instruments having specially served for the fraudulent manufacture of the infringed wines and spirits;

Sentences, likewise, Li Gneu Koueng to a fine of Taels 300;

IN CIVIL

Sentences Giesel to pay as damages to:
Messrs. Hennessy and Cie the sum of Taels 5,000 and Messrs. Noilly Prat and Cie the sum of Taels 10,000.

Confiscates in favour of the Plaintiffs the counterfeited products which have been seized and says these goods shall be destroyed;

Orders, at Giesel's expenses, the insertion in extenso of the present judgment in three organs of the Chinese press and in three of the foreign press of Shanghai, at the selection of the Plaintiffs;

Authorise besides, likewise at the defendant's expenses, the insertion of an abridgement of the present judgment in an organ of the Chinese and foreign press of Hongkong, Canton, Hankow, Tientsin and Peking, says that the cost of each insertion cannot exceed $100.

Sentences the Defendant to restitute to the Plaintiffs, likewise as damages the sum of $1,000 paid to the employees of M. Giesel the said sum is to be considered as costs occasioned in the search of the infringement;

Besides, sentences him to the costs of the present case, same to be Tls. 500.00

Judgment delivered at Shanghai the 26th of October, 1922.

Feminine Gambler Faces Charges In $5,000 Jewel Case

Some interesting sidelights on the extent to which some of feminine Chinese Shanghai are interested in gambling were brought to bear in a case called yesterday at the Mixed Court.

One woman was charged with having obtained a pair of diamond earrings and a diamond ring from another—the complainant—by means of false pretenses. Mr. Musso, Jr., stated that the stones were worth $5,000. Major O. P. Holcomb, appearing for the defendant, told the court that his client had lost in the neighborhood of $30,000 to the complainant through gambling. The stones, he said, were given his client in the nature of a loan, in order that she might raise more money to continue gambling. Accused paid complainant 7% a month interest.

The Court, Assessor Allman and Magistrate Yui, adjourned the case one week, accused to be released on $1,000 shop security.

BEARCATS BEAT WHITES; BLUES WIN

Public School Under 46-24; Irle's Team On Long End, 31-17

NEPRUD IS STAR

Shoots Ten Goals; Doc Gray And Roxburgh Also Shine

LAST NIGHT'S GAMES
"Blues" 46.
Public School 24.

Bearcats 31.
"Whites" 17.

BY TOMMY GRAFTON

Carl Neprud's "Blues" made it two straight when they defeated the Public School five last night by a 46-24 score.

The Public School was outplayed throughout the first half, and was seemingly bewildered by the swift passing of the Blues, while Neprud, Goldman and Coulcher were shooting unerringly into the basket, and rapidly piling up the score. Neprud was in great form, scoring ten goals from the floor, and playing his position well. The School guards failed to stick to their forwards, and the Blues had a number of easy opportunities to score.

The School staged a sensational rally during the last five minutes, holding the fast Rowing Club quintet scoreless for the remainder of the game, and scoring 13 points, largely through the brilliant work of Levis, Brockett and Johansson.

The individual scoring follows:

Blues		Public School
Coulcher	lf	Levis
Goldman	rf	Johansson
Neprud	c	Remedios
H. Nash	lg	Brockett
E. Nash	rg	Mahon
	lg	Siemsen
	c	Lewis

Goals from floor: Neprud 10, Goldman 7, Coulcher 6, Brockett 5, Levis 3, Johansson 3. Goals from fouls: Levis 1, Remedios 1. Referee: Chang. Timer: Hirsch. Scorer: Grafton.

BEARCATS WIN

The Bearcats were liberated from the prison of defeat, in a fast win from the "Whites" by a score of 31 to 17. Roxburgh was the individual star, covering the floor in a whirlwind of speed, and shooting goals from every position. He received fine support from Doc Gray, who played a great game at forward. Kline and Smith were the pick of the losers, the former caging several spectacular shots.

Following is the individual score:

Bearcats		"White"
Pollock	lf	Kriesel
Gray	rf	Heinzerling
Roxburgh	c	Kline
Lewis	lg	Smith
Hirsch	rg	Barnes
Atkinson	g	Macgowan
	f	Renneman
	f	Elliott

Goals from floor: Roxburgh 8, Gray 4, Kline 4, Barnes 2, Elliott 2, Smith, Hirsch. Goals from fouls: Gray 1, Kline 3. Referee: Yao. Timer: Irle. Scorer: Grafton.

WHITES vs. S'HAI COLLEGE

The Whites team, which was beaten by St. John's University Tuesday at the St. John's gym, will go to Shanghai College to meet the varsity five tomorrow evening. The Shanghai five trimmed the Canton-ese Baptist Church badly last Tuesday evening on the "Y" floor. The game is to start at 8 o'clock.

Chinese Recs Team Will Play At Soochow

The Chinese Recreation Club football team will take a trip to Soochow tomorrow and play the Soochow University eleven at three o'clock in the afternoon. The club team will be headed by Capt. Yao and Mgr. Zee, who are confident that they will cop the game without much difficulty.

SHANGHAI HARRIERS

Tomorrow there will be another training run over a course of about six miles in the Kiangwan district. The runners will be divided into two packs, fast and slow; the start will be from the Shanghai American School at 3 p.m.

KOMAROFF IS BEATEN BY GERRY WOOTTEN

American Club Billiard Match Score Is 375-250; Both Show Style

Mr. G. O. Wootten defeated Mr. C. D. Komaroff in the third round of the American club championship match. Mr. Wootten was given a handicap of 125 and the match was to be 375 to 250 points.

At the start, Mr. Komaroff set to work in steady style and made up his handicap before Wootten had passed his first century. A few fairly good breaks enabled the latter to compel Komaroff to extend himself. A brilliant exhibition of billiards resulted and the outcome was in doubt as both of the players have shown their ability to click off a fifty or more at opportune moments.

No large breaks had been made and when Wootten began to draw near to his goal of 250, Komaroff needed less than 50 to win. The gallery was expecting Komaroff to cut loose any minute and run out. But Wootten kept his head and aside from leaving no cinch opening, played steadily along, his opponent being compelled to make his score point by point. The last burst came when Komaroff lacked only 31 and Wootten was still some points from the goal. As Komaroff previously had run 39, it was almost a surety that the smallest opening would let him through. It never came and Wootten passed the 250 mark.

GOLF TO REPLACE BASEBALL, SAYS CYRIL TOLLEY

Former Champion Tells Of Increased Interest In U. S.

"Golf will soon outdo baseball as the national game of the United States," said Cyril Tolley, Britain's ex-champion golfer, returning to England after his American trip with the team of British golfers.

"America has a wonderful collection of absolutely first-class young players," said Tolley, "and they completely outputted us.

"The United States has numbers of young golfers, still in their teens, who are already masters of the game and who are still improving with assiduous practice. In fact, many of these young men are fully the equals of Bobby Jones, the boy wonder, and they will be heard of in the world's championships."

Although Tolley has a wonderful admiration for American putting, he thinks that American golfers are "more plucky than brilliant" and that they would be far less deadly on British greens.

"All the American greens," he says, "are artificially watered and are usually soft, and this has more to do with the American pitch shot than any ribbed clubs.

"Undoubtedly the weather had a great deal to do in the determination of the results, but we are satisfied that we played our best. It is always hard to play in another country.

"Nothing could have exceeded the magnificent hospitality and the fine sportsmanship of the American players. We are looking forward to, and hoping for, another big American invasion in the British championships in 1923."

NANKING TEAM PLAYING FUHTAN HERE TOMORROW

Shanghai Baptist College And St. John's Meet At Yangtszepoo

The University of Nanking football eleven will play Fuhtan University tomorrow at Fuhtan's playground. On Monday next, the Nanking team will play St. John's University football team at Jessfield. Both games are in the series of the East-China Intercollegiate Athletics Association.

The Nanking line up will be as follows: goal, Kiang Pen-sin; r.b., Chang Yuen-nan; l.b., Liu En-loh; r. Lao Yuen-pei; center half, Chen Yu-hwa; left half, Chen Chen-hsi; center forward, Hwang hen-liang, (Captain), r.w., Tsu Hsao-wu; r.i., Chang Keh-wen; l.i., Wu Lien-sen; l.w., Chang Yuen-peh.

Shanghai College is scheduled to meet the St. John's team at Yangtszepoo. This game which is to start at 2:45 p.m. should be a hummer, as the two teams are quite evenly matched and will no doubt cause much excitement.

HONGKONG RUGBY PLAYERS COMING NEXT FEBRUARY

S. J. Jordain Probably Will Captain Team On Which Army Men May Play

Hongkong will send a at rugby football team to Shanghai to play against the northerners at Chinese New Year time—about February 16, says the South China Morning Post. This has been definitely decided upon, and the Shanghai Club has been notified. Every effort will be made to secure a purely civilian team, but, in the event of some of the members being unable to get the required leave of absence, some of the team will be selected from the Army and Navy.

In all probability Mr. S. J. Jordain will captain the team. The Hongkong team would have gone to Shanghai last year, had it not been for the strike. The visit of the team north is the result of an invitation from Shanghai, received some time ago. Shanghai will be invited to play a return match next season.

Matty Was Premier Hurler, Old Records Prove; Giants Pitcher Made Mark In 1908

BY JOHN B. FOSTER

An unearthing of old records has added another sprig of laurel to the wreaths decorating the brow of the old king of the National League, Christopher Mathewson, now living at Saranac Lake. The records in question prove that Matty pitched the greatest number of innings in one season of any moundsman in the history of the National League since 1900.

For a long time, Grover Cleveland Alexander was given credit for the record on the basis of his performances in 1916 when his total innings reached 389. Mathewson's record in 1908 was better than that of Alexander by a wide margin of innings for the old Giant pitcher went over the 400 mark in attaining it. He pitched 425 1-3 innings.

The test of the number of innings pitched in a season is one of endurance and also a testimonial of success for a pitcher would not be used excessively if he were not making good. The season of 1908 in many respects was the most severe that Mathewson ever put in. The Giants did not win the championship that year, for it was the season when Merkle's failure "to touch second" is alleged to have cost the New York National League team the pennant. However, there were other plays which were quite as costly for New York that year, and not all the mistakes were made by players.

As Mathewson pitched in fifty-six games that year it did not seem quite right that he was not credited with the largest total of innings pitched, because fifty-six games is one of the highest records of endurance attained by any pitcher since the days of Radbourne. The latter would have been perfectly willing to pitch every day if nature had given him a rubber arm.

The finding of the records which give Matty the credit to which he is entitled will gratify him as well as many of the old guard, because it gives further confirmation of the opinion that Big Six was the leading pitcher of the National League in his time, and perhaps in many respects the leader for all time.

It is interesting to not that the record for the greatest number of innings pitched in the American League since 1900 was made the same year Matheweson set his mark by Ed Walsh, the spit ball king of the Chicago White Sox. Walsh did even better than Mathewson. He also took part in fifty-six games and pitched 464 innings. It must be remembered that the total of games in which a player takes part includes both those in which he is relieved and those in which he relieves another pitcher.

It has been asserted that Mathewson had been favored by light work when he was with the Giants, but that was not true, and the correction of the national records in his favor now proves that he is really the leader in inning total, which is an indication of severity rather than the opposite.

Juniors Game Is 3-0; S.P.S. Midgets Triumph By 7-1 Score

The Public School elevens defeated the junior and midget teams representing the Shanghai American School, in two games at the Hongkew Park yesterday afternoon.

The Public School teams showed their superiority throughout both games, keeping the ball in S. A. S. territory most of the time.

The juniors won from the American School by a 3-0 score, the midgets winning, 7 goals to 1.

WILDE TO LOSE TITLE, SAYS WRITER

Fyweight Champion Will Be Beaten By Villa Is Prediction

PANCHO POPULAR

Shrewd Little Manilan Figured To Cop World's Crown

Pancho Villa has fought his way to recognition in America. Landing in New York an absolutely unknown boy six months ago, he slowly climbed up the pugilistic ladder. A little over three months after his arrival in New York he proved himself everything that he was claimed to be by those who knew him when he punched Johnny Buff, American flyweight champion, full of holes, winning the title.

Not content with this achievement, Pancho has taken on every boy sent up against him and has proved that his victory over Buff was no fluke. He met Abe Goldstein, who is considered a worthy contender for the bantamweight title of the world, and completely outboxed and outfought him. His victory over Goldstein, who received the verdict in their first meeting in New York, showed that Villa has improved greatly ever since his first fight in America and, unless we miss our guess, will continue to improve as fast as he gains more experience.

What New York boxing critics say of Villa is always interesting to fight followers in the Far East. A New York paper of recent date had the following to say of Villa:

Fight followers of good judgment can't find words good enough to

FIRE GOD'S ANGER SEEN BY HUCHOW AFTER 8 BLAZES

Fantastic Rumors Started As Result Of Outbreaks

(China Press Service)

Huchow, Dec. 5.—The eighth of a series of conflagrations that have alarmed and mystified the city broke out near the North Gate last night resulting in the utter destruction of a moderately sized Chinese dwelling and the burning to death of an aged man. The wildest rumors are flying from mouth to mouth regarding the supposedly mysterious origin of these fires and foretelling dire disaster still impending.

These fires, eight in number, have occurred with startling regularity during a period of two weeks. The first on Izang Street has already been reported. A few days later another house was burned in the same neighborhood. Then on the busiest corner of the city at midnight a fire of unknown origin destroyed some $30,000 worth of property. At fairly regular intervals since then have occurred five other fires all, with the exception of that of last night, breaking out near midnight with no assignable cause authoritatively given for any of them.

Even with regard to last night's fire no one can be found to admit that its origin was other than uncanny. This fire was within two hundred yards of the new Administration Building of S. U. Middle School, No. Three, but fortunately the wind blew away from this building so that there was no danger of its catching fire. The man burned to death is said to have been asleep upstairs, though why he was not aroused and saved is unknown.

The city is full of rumors as to the cause of these conflagrations. One rumor states that a band of desperadoes are systematically setting fires for the purpose of loot. A few nights ago the girls of a certain school became so alarmed over a report that their school was to be burned that night that they were all on the point of fleeing to their homes and were restrained only by the positive assurance that the buildings and grounds would be patrolled by two watchmen all night long.

THE FIRE GOD

One rumor has it that a pu-sa, the Ho Shen (fire god), has come down and is personally instigating the fires. It is said that he has been seen in the crowds at the fires in the form of a gigantic man with a red and flaming face. Another rumor says that the great number of foreigners who have been visiting the city lately is responsible for the bad luck that has resulted in these conflagrations.

The latest rumor is that the city is to be burned down from east to west and from north to south, including all foreign residences and schools. It goes without saying that the hard headed citizen attributes these fires to their undoubted origin, that of inexcusable carelessness in a very dry season. Still when panic possesses the multitudes there is no predicting what malicious advantage the tu-fei and liu-mang may take of it.

Immigration Law May Be Stiffened

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Dec. 6.—It is expected that President Harding's forthcoming message to Congress will deal, inter alia, with immigration.

The Cabinet has already discussed the problem. It is stated at the White House that no decision has been reached but officials believe that the President will propose continuation of the present restriction law with amendments designed to raise the general standard of immigrants.

It is understood that the Secretary of Labor is preparing a plan for the examination of aliens at ports of embarkation.

Wu Asks For Time In War On Banditry

Honan. This represents postponement for one week.

(China Press Service)

Chengchow, Honan, Dec. 2.—The Bandit Suppression Headquarters here has issued the following report on government efforts to suppress bandits in Honan:

At Chumatien and Choshan in southern Honan, bandits have been decisively defeated and have retreated in the direction of Yushih district. Some bandits are still awaiting further development at Shapao and Lo-yu.

On the east wing, Tsao Yin led his brigade on Nov. 27 from Juichow and has cleared out the territory between Juichow and Shuchang and his men are pursuing in the direction of Wuyang. Skirmishes were fought with bandits at Kocheng and Lingchen on the western sector, and many bandits were arrested and disarmed.

On the front in the south, strong forces marched out from Loshan on Nov. 27, and, according to wireless messages fighting is taking place at Kunchih with about 1,000 bandits. In the north, the bandit chief, Chang Teh-shen, was defeated at Ling-liu on Nov. 27.

Three brigades are protecting the Kinhan line from Chengchow to Wushankwan with the view of keeping the bandits off the Peking-Hankow railway zone.

One brigade is stationed at Lunan and Chenyang, and many bandits there were arrested. Some troops have been sent to Chowkow and Shangshui to clean up the broken bandit army.

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, Dec. 2.—Foreign observers fear that captives in the Honan bandits hand will surely be doomed, if Wu Pei-fu takes any drastic measure to wind up their career as he is beginning to do now. Wu Pei-fu is taking good care of foreigners in his town, where he guards every mission station with special night patrols, but foreigners are skeptical as to the advisability of organising any sweeping movement at this time to force the bandits to give up their foreign hostages.

Wu Pei-fu has also sent a communication to the Hankow Foreign Office advising that adequate plans are being devised to exterminate the bandit curse in Honan, and further stating that foreigners may rest in peace as to the release of their fellow nationals now in the clutches of brigands.

(China Press Service)

Hsuchow, Honan, Dec. 6.—A Chinese missionary obtained an interview with the bandit chieftain in this locality today, when he entreated the latter to release the foreigners recently captured.

The bandit chieftain declared that the foreigners would be liberated only on condition that the Chinese Government would accept all demands made by the bandits. He added that no offer of money or valuables for the release of foreigners held up would be considered.

The missionary has brought back a diary of one of the foreigners in the headquarters of the brigands. The diary gives pathetic accounts of areas devastated by bandits.

The magistrate of Shangtsai-hsien was murdered. His wife was stripped naked, bound on a pillar of the Court, and raped. She died of cold and starvation.

Chicherin Outlines Russian Program At Near East Parley

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Nov. 30.—Mr. Chicherin, People's Commissar of Foreign Affairs, in an interview with the Rosta correspondent summarizes the policy of the Russian delegation at the Lausanne Conference as follows:

"Independence of Turkey, full recognition of the Turks' legal rights in the Straits and throughout the Turkish territory, non-admittance of foreign military vessels into the Straits in war as well in peace, and secure freedom of commercial navigation in the Straits, are the fundamental theses of Russia's program at the Lausanne Conference. The Russian delegation will sign no agreement contradictory to these theses.

"The Soviet Republic will appear at Lausanne as a friend of the oppressed and exploited peoples of the East. The Soviet Republic is aware of the fact that no solid agreement can be concluded in the Near East without her participation.

"Turkey struggles at Lausanne for the primary interests of her existence, striving to create a politically and economically sovereign state and to be master of the Straits up to the coasts of the Marmora Sea. In this Turkey will receive the full assistance of the Russian delegation."

ACCUSED OF FRAUD

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 7.—Mr. Edwin Alexander Enever, a director of a number of companies and who is believed to have promoted some companies connected with the Far East, and Mr. William Henry Bennett were charged at the Westminster Police Court yesterday with conspiracy to defraud. Mr. Bennett was remanded and was granted bail for £1,000. Mr. Enever was refused bail. The magistrate remarked that large sums appeared to be involved.

Wilde To Lose Title, Says Writer

fit Pancho Villa, the little Filipino, who recently won the American flyweight championship from Johnny Buff. The youngster seems to have everything that becomes a champion and if he gets a bout with Jimmy Wilde there is little doubt that he will win the world's title.

Villa has a heart that is not awed by a champion and he is also a shrewd little ring man. When he met Buff for the title he was first in the ring, and instead of avoiding the glances of the champion, he walked over and helped him through the ropes when he entered the ring.

He also works the trick of taking an opponent by the arm and leading him to his corner as if he were in distress when he had not damaged him at all.

WILLS GETS A LAUGH

As a rule, a champion tries to get the goat of an opponent by trying to look him down when they get into the ring or by making some slighting remark when the referee is giving them instructions.

Tut Jakson tried to bluff Harry Wills when the referee was telling them how they wanted to fight.

"Shall I go back to my corner when he's down?" Jackson asked.

Wills laughed out loud.

In the old days it was considered wise strategy for a fighter to go into his opponent's dressing room and taunt him with an offer to fight it out there before they entered the ring.

Chinese Constable Faces Theft Charge

A Chinese police constable appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday charged with theft under cover of his office.

The charge is that the constable took $58 in notes from a prisoner in the West Hongkew station charge room. The case was remanded until next Tuesday, accused to be released on $1,000 shop security.

DELICATE FROM BIRTH.

How Baby's Own Tablets Help Weakly Children

In three words—"delicate from birth"—is expressed a world of anxieties suffered by mothers whose children have had a bad start in life. For little ones who are ailing, peevish, worried by teething, fickle of appetite, and unable to digest food Baby's Own Tablets have proved of the utmost value.

"My last baby was sickly from birth and the benefit Baby's Own Tablets have afforded is simply wonderful. They do all that is claimed for them and more, and I would not be without them for anything," writes Mrs. A. D. Waite, 1207 Fremont Avenue, North Minneapolis, U. S. A.

Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, are obtainable from chemists, also post free 60 cents the vial, from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

Szechuen Troops Moved Down River

(Independent News Service)

Wuchang, Dec. 1.—The Upper Yangtze Defence Forces under the command of General Sun Chuen-fang have just been ordered by Wu Pei-fu to evacuate Ichang and move to Wusueh on the middle Yangtze below Hankow. General Sun and his family have just arrived in Wuchang from Ichang, and General Sun is making his temporary headquarters in Wuchang. A dinner will be given in honor of General Sun Chuen-fang by leading officials here including the Tuchun tomorrow at the International Restuarant in Hankow.

The removal of Sun's forces from Ichang is construed as an indication of amicable settlements having been reached between Szechuen generals and northern forces in the Upper Yangtze. At certain official sources, it is intimated that the arrival of General Sun Chuen-fang in Hupeh may occasion some significant change in the personnel of Tuchunship in Hupeh, as General Wu Pei-fu is reported to be highly pleased with General Sun during the recent visits of General Sun to Loyang.

8 Rand Strikers Sentenced To Die

(Reuter's Service)

Johannesburg, Dec. 6.—Eight men were found guilty of murder today in connection with attacks during the Rand rebellion on the Brakpan Mine and were sentenced to death. It was alleged that the defenders of the mine were done to death after they had surrendered.

A scene took place in court before sentence was pronounced. The accused vigorously denied their guilt, some with tears. One, who has turned King's evidence, tried to address the court but was taken out amid exclamations from the accused:

"Hear what a guilty man has to say."

Filibuster Awaits Ship Subsidy Bill

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Dec. 6.—It is believed that the whole question of free tolls for coasting ships traversing the Panama Canal will be reopened as a result of Senator Borah's introduction of a proposed amendment to the Ship Subsidy Bill.

If the Bill is passed at all the supporters of the free tolls movement are determined that a free tolls clause shall be included.

The Senate Commerce Committee has taken steps to rush the Bill but it is faced with what is described as an ironclad filibuster.

NOTICE

Consumers are recommended, during the winter months, to close at night the stopcock inside their houses, and to empty the cold water piping by opening all the cold water taps in order to minimise the danger of pipes and fittings being burst by frost with consequent damage to walls and furniture.

The Company is at all times prepared to show consumers the stopcock referred to.

The Company wishes it to be clearly understood that, in the event of any damage to the pipes and/or fittings due to frost or any other cause, the cost of repairing same will be charged to the consumer.

Under no conditions must a tap or taps be allowed to run to waste, and consumers are reminded that, under the terms and conditions of contract signed by them, the Company has power, in the event of water being so wasted, to discontinue the supply without notice.

Opening of a Circus

After having spent a great deal of money, we have succeeded in getting a certain number of bulls that have already arrived in Shanghai; so we shall be able to give the Shanghai public very enjoyable entertainments.

These bulls are absolutely different from the average run of those that are usually shown to the public in other countries at the "Course of Corridas."

All fittings up will be terminated in a few days' time, and the opening will take place on the 8th of December, 1922.

Beside the numbers in which the bulls will take part, there will be numerous attractions that have never yet taken place in Shanghai.

All, Men and Women, the Europeans as well as the Chinese, are welcome.

This Circus is situated on the grounds known as the "Rockfeller Foundation" South to the Rue de l'Observatoire.

Rubber Auctions

Messrs. R. N. Truman and Company have received the following telegram from their Singapore agents in connection with the auctions held there on Wednesday, December 6;

Average price realised:

No. 1 Smoked Sheet $0.49 per pound equivalent to 1s. 1⅞d. ex warehouse Singapore.

No. 1 Crepe $0.48½ per pound equivalent to 1s. 1⅞d. ex warehouse Singapore.

Market steady Offered 517 tons; sold 303 tons.

Exchange Market

In their weekly report on the exchange market, Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows:

Exchange.—The London price of silver at 32 7-16d. for spot, and 32 1-16d. for forward is 9-16d. and 7-16d. up respectively since this day last week. Our official rate for T.T. on London at 3-2 is 1d. higher: Early money has been in demand, and this, with sales of Gold Yen by Dairen merchants has given a firm tone to our Market. Advices from home do not indicate any lasting strength in Silver and our exchange market at the close was inclined to come into line with official quotations.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver, Tls. 33,219,000 a decrease of Tls. 1,989,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars, $38,190,000 an increase of $1,770,000.

Estimated value Tls. 60,715,000 as against Tls. 45,053,000 held at this time last year.

December 7, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each down 1-16d. in London yesterday. The New York price advanced to 65¼ cents and the London New York cross rate to 456¾.

Our official rates this morning were unchanged from yesterday but as the market was weak from the opening the rates were changed twice during the course of the day.

The official Sterling rate at the close was 3s. 1¼d., the Gold Dollar rate 70¾ and the Yen rate 68½.

In the early part of the morning a small business in Sterling was done at 3s. 2d. for December and 3s. 1 1/16d. for January delivery. Gold Dollars were done at 72¼ for December and 72⅜ for forward.

However, as there were strong buyers at these rates the market quickly weakened off and in the afternoon there were no sellers of Sterling at better than 3s. 1½d. for December, 3s. 1 1/16d. for January and 3s. 1¼d. for forward delivery.

There were no sellers of Gold Dollars at better than 71¼ for December, 71⅜ for January and 71½ for forward delivery. There were sellers of Yen at 68¼ at the close and buyers at 68⅛.

There was a very strong demand for Sterling for future delivery but banks were unwilling sellers.

In the afternoon banks were quoting 3s. 2¼d. for Sterling bills, 73¼ for Gold Dollar bills and 1050 for Franc bills.

India bought and sold silver in London yesterday and the market is reported as steady. New York also report their market as steady with buyers at the official rate.

Weekly Review Of Shanghai Markets

The Shanghai markets this week on the whole exhibited a better tone, although some sections are not as healthy as we would like to witness.

The prospect of having very large supplies of coal from Kailan and Japan is at the present moment not entertained, for the Japanese mines cannot supply the demand from China and whatever supplies of Kailan coal arrive by the incoming boats are snapped up and are mostly against contracts entered into by large industrial organisations and by the Electricity Department of the Municipal Council. The Chinese buyers are now drawing upon Manchuria and Shantung for supplies of coal. The situation is certainly worthy of special notice for most housewives are interested in this commodity at the present moment, especially as Winter calls for more fires at home. The coal merchants say that they do not expect any decline in prices.

Although the Continent and England are inquiring for certain North China products, business in many cases is simply impossible owing to the big difference between the buyer's prices and what the Chinese dealer in Shanghai is willing to accept. A little business is transpiring here and there, but the volume is not large enough to bring balm to the hearts of the exporting houses.

A startling bit of news is that Chinese merchants in Swatow have declared a boycott of Japanese beancake, a commodity which is certainly exported in large bulk into China. A commodity that is exported into Swatow to the annual value of a million dollars should be an important one and if the Chinese, according to reports, have really boycotted this particular product it should give the Dairen merchants something to think over.

The iron and steel trades have a jeremiad to relate. Business is very bad with them. There is a very small indent buying but it is certainly not remunerative enough to pay for a small establishment charges per month. All the Chinese hongs interested in metals are certainly despondent, and may their sorrows not increase.

A better tone is struck in the piece goods business, but the experienced merchant does not allow himself to be deceived by such jerky and slight improvements. They indicate nothing. To many it is merely the mirage of the decolation that has swept the piece goods trade for the past few months. Misplaced optimism is both dangerous and misleading, however, much we would like to strike an optimistic note in connection with piece goods similar to the loud assertions of people in England of the improvement noticeable in the Chinese market.

MORE COAL NEEDED

Since the solution of the Kailan coal mining deadlock caused by the walkout of the miners, there has been more coal coming into Shanghai from Chingwangtao, but the quantity is not enough to meet all the demand in Shanghai.

A very large part of the recent arrivals have been taken up by the large industrial organisations and the Electricity Department of the Shanghai Municipal Council, so that there has been very little to supply the needs of the other institutions and the public.

In view of this the Chinese are still demanding Japanese and Fushun coal. The local market therefore maintains its firm undertone. Those merchants who had expected to be able to secure any quantity of coal from Japan have been disappointed to find that supplies from that country are now difficult to secure. There is a big demand for coal in Japan and there is no Japanese coal available for export to Shanghai in large quantities.

In fact the importation of Fushun or Manchurian coal is continuing and causing no mean pressure on the Japanese market psychology. Some of the contracts of more or less bigger figures entered into lately have been characterised by the exceeding shortness of the terms, none of them in fact exceeding three months at the longest.

The Shanghai merchants are planning to import Shantung and Fushun coal, while some coal is already arriving from the interior of China. During the week there were fair quantities of Shantung coal consigned to Shanghai. Shantung coal is higher in price compared with Japanese coal, but the merchants are constrained to import this as supplies from Japan available for export are so meagre.

The stocks of coal in Shanghai at the present time are lower than they usually are in ordinary times. The same remark applies to the supplies of Japanese coal on the Shanghai market. The total stock is estimated at about 100,000 tons, which is half of the normal quantity stocked here.

It is likely that there will be increased importation of Fushun coal from Manchuria and Shantung in order to alleviate the present shortage here and to bring down the existing high prices. Some ship owners complain that the Manchurian mines are not being worked to capacity, due to a large extent, they say, to Japanese quarters.

Local prices are about the same. Arrivals of Kailan coal from the Kailan mines this week averaged about 2,000 tons. Since the settlement of the labor dispute there has arrived in Shanghai more than 10,000 tons of Kailan coal.

As far as can be seen there is no prospect of coal prices turning downward in the immediate future. The only thing that could help to bring prices down a bit will be an increased output. The present price level affords sufficient margin of profit to the different mines in Japan, Manchuria, China and elsewhere to go in for increased production. In spite of the fact that the limitation of output of coal arranged among the important coal mine owners in Japan has been more or less relaxed, stocks of coal in Japan remain low and therefore prices there tend upward. It would be well for the Chinese buyers to bear these facts in mind.

PRODUCE MARKET BETTER

There has been a slightly better tone in the produce markets. Trade has been confined to small lots and to a few products.

The market in sesamum has become dull as it is difficult to bridge the gap between the prices offered by European consumers and what the Chinese seller is prepared to accept. The latest buying quotation from European buyers is £21.2.6 per ton, while the local market stands at Tls. 6.50 per picul, equivalent to £22.10 per ton. With this big difference between the sellers' and buyers

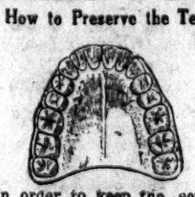
How to Preserve the Teeth



In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid powe of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Surpluses And Politics

(New York Times, Nov. 2)

THE U.S. Steel Corporation's report shows for the quarter just ended a deficit after dividends of $1,339,602. It has charged off $6 a share on the common stock. Naturally these charges off do not go into the surplus just now, but they reflect the manner in which the surplus was created in more prosperous times. Many regard surpluses as something to be "raided." They might change their opinion if they could be persuaded that surpluses are reserves to average good times with bad. The decline of profits just reported by the Steel Corporation is due to causes depressing all industry. Shortage of coal made production costly. Shortage of railway facilities resulted in "piling" 100,000 tons of finished products which could not be delivered. The narrow price changes of the shares show that Wall Street understands business.

Labor leaders think that wage earners are more interested in the cash they receive than in what the cash will buy. To them it seems that industry exists for the production of wages rather than of goods. They discover their mistake when they use forcible methods to increase wages, only to discover that they lose their jobs or that their increased pay gives them less purchasing power. The law of economic reason is that wages and profits are complements of each other. Capital and labor run a joint profit and loss account, and both are interested in co-operating so that credits may exceed debits.

Lawmakers lean to the errors of labor unions. They have abolished railway surpluses and substituted a rule of railway profits reducing them to a fixed rate which, if realised, would assimilate shareholders' inducements to invest rather to mortgage interest than to dividends from profits. The most approved railway practice used to be to halve their profits and carry to surplus the half withheld from dividends. The railway surplus was the country's guarantee that traffic would be carried, and that business would not languish for lack of railway facilities. The New Haven line has declared an embargo because it is overwhelmed with business which it cannot do. The Illinois Public Utilities Commission has protested to the Interstate Commerce Commission against the shortage of grain cars. Secretary Hoover said in comment that the failure of railway facilities to expand with trade prevented the railways from serving the country properly, and instanced the fact that farmers cannot get Liverpool prices because of inability to deliver the goods. The excess price of coal he said, was due to lack of transportation, which, in turn, is due to the strike. Space would fail to complete the contrast between practical finance and theoretical control of capital by lawmakers.

Official Statement Of Japan's Naval Reduction

Note: The following is issued to us by the Japanese Consulate General for publication:

1.—Immediately after the conclusion of the Washington Conference and even before the Imperial ratification of the Naval Treaty growing out of that conference, the Japanese Government suspended the construction of the capital ships Kaga, Tosa, Amagi, and Akagi.

When the Naval Treaty had been ratified, preparations were at once taken in hand for scrapping the other vessels to be disposed of under the treaty, viz: Settsu, Aki, Satuma, Katori, Kashima, Kurama, Ibuki, Ikoma, Hizen, Mikasa, Shikishima, Asahi and Fuji. These preparations were made in order that those vessels could be promptly scrapped when the Naval Treaty should have taken effect; and now they are already divested of the greater portion of their armaments, and manned by only a small number of men, sufficient for preserving order, they are waiting for the coming into force of the treaty. Under the provisions of the Treaty, the armament and armor of the Fuji has been removed and she has been made a special service boat.

2.—It need scarcely be said that the Japanese Government will scrupulously observe the restrictions imposed by the Naval Treaty on capital ships, airship carriers etc., nor need it be said that the Japanese Government will adhere to the spirit of the treaty in building auxiliary ships. In this connection a comparison may with advantage be made between the newly contemplated and reduced program and the eight-eight program which was framed through many sessions of the Diet up to and including the extraordinary session of 1920. The auxiliary ships which were to have been completed by 1927, under the eight-eight program are as follows:

a. Cruisers: Those completed after Tatsuta and Tenryu, "but including these ships" and those already ordered numbered 17, and those not yet ordered numbered 9, making in all 26 vessels, totalling 146,750 tons Among these ships were 4 of 8,000 tons each.

b. Destroyers: Those completed after Ekaze, Tanikaze, Nara and Kuwa "but including these ships" and those already ordered, numbered 57, and those not yet ordered numbered 22 first-class and 15 second-class destroyers, making in all 94, with a total of 102,566 tons.

c. Submarines: Those completed or already ordered numbered 47, and those not yet ordered, 48, making 93, with a total of 82,852 tons.

These vessels were under a program which took several years to frame and naturally lack uniformity in style. While decreasing the number of ships, it is intended somewhat to enlarge the size and to standardise it, and also to discard old ships in order to reduce future expenditure. The new program has not yet been definitely decided upon but its general outline is as follows:

a. Cruisers: 4 of about 10,000 tons each, and 4 of about 7,000 tons, totalling 8 with about 68,400 tons gross.

b. Destroyers: 24 first-class destroyers, totalling 33,000 tons gross.

c. Submarines: 22, totalling 28,166 tons gross.

Under the old program an increase of only 20 percent was provided for in the appropriations to cover the great rise in prices. Under the new program it is intended to rectify that percentage so that the deficit can be covered. But this means no increase of expenditure; the new program is to be carried through within the appropriations of the old program.

When the old and new programs are taken together, it will be seen that the vessels to be built under the program which has not yet been placed on order, show a decrease of 38 in number, totalling 13,395 tons.

3.—The number of men and officers to be discharged as a result of the scrapping of capital ships and other measures of armament restriction totals about 12,000. This does not include mechanics and laborers employed at dockyards, 6,000 of whom have already been dismissed.

b. Adjustment of Naval Stations.

The Japanese Government contemplates the readjustment of First Class Naval Stations and Minor Naval Stations in connection with the limitation of armaments provided for by the Washington treaty and for economy of expense, the gist of that decision being announced on July 5, 1922, is as follows:

1.—Maidzuru: The Maidzuru Naval Station is to be converted into the Maidzuru Minor Naval Station. The Maidzuru Naval Station Jurisdiction, Personnel Department, Department of Account and Supplies (excluding part of clothing and provisions section), Building Department, Prison, Court-martial, and the Marine Corps are to be abolished.

Minor Naval Station jurisdiction is to be established at the Maidzuru Minor Naval Station. The arsenal, port affairs department, hospital and clothing, and provisions section are to be retained for the Minor Naval Station jurisdiction, with necessary readjustments.

The defense corps and the radio station are to be retained without any radical change.

2.—Chenhai: The Chenhai Naval Station is to be abolished and the Chenhai Minor Naval Station to be established in its place.

Minor Naval Station jurisdiction is to be established at the Chenhai Minor Naval Station.

3.—Port Arthur: The Port Arthur Minor Naval Station jurisdiction is to be abolished.

A defense corps and the radio station are to be retained.

4.—Others:

The Minor Naval Stations at Takeshiki and Yengheung are to be abolished.

The system of dividing the country into five naval districts is to be changed into a system of three naval districts.

5.—Date of execution: It is intended that the matters mentioned under 1, 2 and 4 shall be carried into effect about April next, and those under 3 about December of this year.

ARMY REDUCTION

In conformity with the spirit of the Washington Conference the Japanese Government has the intention of readjusting its army and has been consistently considering ways and means of carrying out this idea.

A program was framed and the first part of it was carried into effect on August 15, 1922. The number of men and officers to be discharged under the program is as follows:

Officers: 1,800
Non-commissioned Officers: 3,000
Men: 53,000

In order to curtail Government expenditure, the six battalions of troops garrisoned along the railways in Manchuria and the extra contingents attached to the Divisions in Korea to guard the border and the other outlying ditsricts are to be abolished. This will mean further reduction to the extent of 400 officers and 5,000 men. Taken all in all, it means that the Japanese Army is to be reduced by approximately one-fifth.

Why G. K. C. Became A Roman Catholic

Mr. G. K. Chesterton has been interviewed by the London correspondent of the Toronto Daily Star on his conversion to the Roman Catholic Church.

"The change I have made," he said, "is from being an Anglo-Catholic to being a Roman Catholic. I have always believed, at least for twenty years, in the Catholic view of Christianity. Unless the Church of England was a branch of the Catholic Church I had no use for it. If it were a Protestant Church I did not believe in it in any case. The question always was whether the Church of England can claim to be in direct descent from the medieval Catholic Church. That is the question with every Anglo-Catholic or Higher Churchman."

With characteristic paradox Mr. Crestcrton asserted that it is the leading Protestants who have converted him to Catholicism. "Among the people who have most helped me to answer the question whether the Church of England is Catholic, and to whom I am most indebted, are the chief Protestant leaders in the Church of England, such as the Dean of St. Paul's and Bishop Hensley-Henson. They have done me this good service, and I wish to express gratitude to them for it. They have done me the best service one man can do another.

"It appears to me quite clear that any church claiming to be authoritative must be able to answer quite definitely when great questions of public morals are put. Can I go in for cannibalism or murder babies to reduce the population, or any similar scientific and progressive reform? Any church with authority to teach must be able to say whether it can be done. But Protestant churches are in utter bewilderment on these moral questions—for example, on birth control, on divorce, on Spiritualism.

"You have people like Dean Inge coming out publicly and definitely to champion what I regard as a low and poisonous trick, not far removed from infanticide. It is perfectly true that there are in the Church of England and other Protestant bodies many men who would denounce these heathen vices as much as I can. Bishop Gore would speak as strongly about them as the Pope. But the point is that the Church of England does not speak strongly. It has no united action. I have no use for a church which is not a church militant, which cannot order battle and fall in line and march in the same direction."

Animal Instinct Concerning Death

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Eminent Astronomer and Authority On Subjects Of Scientific Interest

"On prairie farms in the West during the half-hour or so preceding a violent wind or thunder storm, and especially if there is considerable darkness, it is a very common sight to see cattle, who were quietly grazing, stampede toward some pile of bones or carcasses of dead cattle or other animals. They seem to pay no direct attention to the bones, but do a good deal of pawing with hoofs, and sometimes throw up considerable dirt with their horns.

"I could never understand what draws them to this particular spot, almost as if they know of, or fear, death. Are they guided by some hidden instinct?" —J. K. L., West New Brighton, S. I.

Cattle often indulge in such antics on the approach of a storm, or when otherwise suddenly alarmed, without reference to any special object contained in the field where they are inclosed. In the case that you speak of the pile of bones may have attracted them because in the gathering gloom it loomed more conspicuous, and so formed a center of attention for them, which they associated with the cause or source of the storm and darkness.

Some, however, would guess that, because of the atmospheric conditions attending the storm, emanations from the bones affecting the sense of smell became more noticeable, and thus excited in the alarmed cattle that peculiar wildness which they always exhibit at the sight and smell of blood.

Among the memories of my boyhood in the country, hardly any are more vivid than those connected with this (as far as I know unexplained) loss of self-control by horned cattle whenever one of their companions is killed in their presence. They become dangerous and reckless in their excitement, often chasing and "horning" one another, pawing up the ground and bawling defiantly.

Farmers who had "a killing" were careful to shut and fasten the gates and bars of the barnyard if there were any cattle in an adjoining pasture. Even then, if the scene of the execution was in plain view, the cattle in the field would show great uneasiness, looking frequently toward the barn, approaching the barrier as near as they could, tossing their heads, sniffing the air, shooting loudly, stamping their feet and occasionally, one at a time, lowering the head and running amuck, with brandished horns.

To the onlooker at a scene of this kind it seems as if an uncontrollable terror had seized the poor beasts, and, with our habit of interpreting every act of the inferior animals according to a human formula if it in any degree resembles what we should do in similar circumstances, it is difficult to avoid thinking that it is death that the maddened creatures are terrified by.

But, however we may interpret their conduct, even though we assume that they have a dim knowledge of the nature of the vast difference between a living cow and a dead one, and some perception of the relationship between flowing blood and death, yet the basis of their conduct remains rather an expression of instinct than of reasoning from cause to effect.

But the strength of that instinct is astonishing. Although my personal observations of such occurrences were not numerous, and are all in the far past, yet I can see as if it had occurred only yesterday the wild eye and crazed conduct of a young heifer suddenly coming upon a pool of blood on the ground at the foot of a barn door where a "beef" had been slaughtered a little before. A snift, a short and a wild flight with kicking heels were enough to convince my boyish ignorance at least that the young animal knew what the sight meant, knew just what had happened there, and was at the same time maddened and terrified.

Knowledge, or recognition, of the fact and the appearance of death, as presented by its victims, is not uncommon, and perhaps may be universal in the animated world under our level. There are many instances, it is true, where animals appear to ignore the dead even of their own species. But, on the other hand, there are instances of a hardly to be questioned appreciation by an animal of the change from life to death undergone by one of its companions.

Natural history books are full of stories of what can only be described as "mourning" by animals for their dead friends. The conduct of a dog in the presence of the body of its dead master is often as indicative not only of sorrow but of a full consciousness that the dead mouth will never speak again, as if the dog possessed human faculties.

The shamming of death as a means of escaping enemies, which we find practiced in almost the lowest ranks of the animal kingdom, is in itself an indication that all animals have some perception of the existence and the insignia of the quality that we call life.

The Rhyming Optimist

BY ALINE MICHAELIS

The sloth awoke at break of dawn, suspended from a limb From then till noon he just hung on, for time meant naught to him. The sloth is an ungainly chap, whose home is in Peru. His life is but a lengthy nap, with nothing else to do. Ambition does not touch his soul, the sloth has yet to be who cares to leave his ancient role, just hanging from a tree. The sloth hung on from dawn till noon, and hung from noon till night; most any other beast would swoon to hang in such a plight. But, as the shades of evening fell, and crept along his way, the sloth said sweetly, "It is well, it's been a perfect day!" The little ant arose at dawn and hustled from her hill Ouoth she: "One priceless moment's gone, too long have I been still!" The ant went bustling here and there to find a bit of food; she dragged ten captives to her lair and had them nicely stewed. A score of times she sallied forth on weighty business bent, she hurried east, west, south and north until her breath was spent. Her eighty eyes grew weak and tired, and all her legs were faint, but till the ants' curfew was fired she uttered no complaint. Then as she fell into her bed and dropped to sleep straightway, "I must remark," she sweetly said, "it's been a perfect day!" Oh, who are you or who am I to say what day is best, like little ants who move on high, or sloths who take their rest? If it were not extravagant, I'd cast a vote for both, for sometimes I am like the ant and sometimes like the sloth.

Weekly Review Of Shanghai Markets

ideas it is hardly surprising that a deadlock has set in the sesamum section.

In addition, arrivals of sesamum seeds have been rather scarce of late owing to the banditry in the interior. Since the season opened at the end of October a good business had been done, large shipments going forward to the Continent, especially to Genoa and Tunis. Germany has been out of this market. The present stocks in Shanghai of sesamum seeds amount to not more than ten casks, each cask containing 20 to 30 tons.

There is absolutely nothing doing in rapeseed, the nominal quotation standing at Tls. 5.30 per picul. The local market has been denuded of stocks. Although the crop has been a good one the demand that set in since it came on the market has cleared all visible supplies from the Shanghai market. Trading in this commodity usually begins in Spring and ends sometime in November.

A bit of astounding news comes from Swatow that the Chinese merchants there have declared a boycott of Japanese bean cake. What the reason is for this action has not been vouchasfed, but it is interesting to record this fact as it is in a way a novelty. The annual shipments of beancake from Dairen to Swatow are said to be worth around one million dollars, the business being mainly in the hands of Suzuki and Co. We are likely to hear much more about this boycott a little later on.

The market for beans during the week has been fairly steady, the quotation today being Tls. 3.70. The Dairen market has been fluctuating, speculative interest in that center operating on a large scale. South China has been buying bean cakes, and a fair amount of business on this account has to be recorded.

Peanuts are firm, the rate being round Tls. 6.40 per picul. The London market is better, but the rate ruling on the London Produce Exchange is too low to induce business. The quotation cabled out from England is £19 per ton, and the ruling rate here works out at £21 per ton. There has consequently been little business doing in this commodity with Great Britain during the week.

Arrivals of peanuts into Shanghai are extremely small. Cantonese merchants have been purchasing both peanuts and peanut oil during the week in the local market.

Stocks of horsebeans are almost exhausted. There has been some inquiry from England but no business could be consummated as there is no possibility of securing supplies.

METALS MARKET QUIET

It has been another quiet week in the metals market, conditions being practically unaltered since our last report. The monotony was broken by a few inquiries from Shanghai firms for galvanised sheets from the United States. From Dairen also there have come orders for tubes. Prices are unchanged from last quotations. Outside of this there is nothing of a startling nature to report.

The copper situation in the United States appears to be somewhat peculiar and interesting. Some time ago the Osaka Government Arsenal called for tenders, and a certain firm made the lowest bid of Yen 42.23, as stockholders in Japan will not part with their supplies for less than Yen 43.25. There is brisk inquiry and the stock in Osaka is estimated to be not more than 9,000 tons. Importation of electrolytic copper into Japan has entirely ceased and the stocks there are decreasing rapidly.

Despondency is the ruling note in the local metals market. The trade is continuing to fade. The usual pre-Winter and pre-Chinese New Year business has not been forthcoming, due largely to the insecure state of life and property in the interior. Usually a lively trade is done with the interior but orders for a long time have been growing scarcer and scarcer.

The copper outlook is still regarded as favorable in spite of the fact that the production of the United States mines is stated to have increased. The demand for the metal it is believed will increase, especially as a number of British battleships and the scheme for the electrification of some of the English railways will call for a large supply of copper. This should give the European copper consumption a stimulus. The demand from the United States is also heavy.

The American base metals market with the exception of copper have advanced to high record levels. The British metals market is experiencing a slack time, the demand from overseas being extremely poor. Manufacturers in that country expect that at the beginning of next year the demand from China will spring up, to which we can only "Amen."

There has been a fair quantity of tin sold during the week on the London market, the demand being general. At the end of last month there were stocked in London some 22,346 tons of tin as compared with 19,925 tons at the end of October last. Deliveries during November amounted to 7,500 tons, of which Great Britain took 1,850 tons and America 4,813 tons. At the end of last month stocks of tin in London came up to 5,302 tons, against 6,078 tons in October last. This included 1,530 tons of Straits tin and 180 tons of Chinese tin.

Latest ruling quotations on the London Metals Exchange are:

Steel Angles £8 per ton.
Heavy Steel Scrap £70 per ton, a gainst £69 last week.
Steel Shiplates £8.10 per ton.
Steel Joists £8 per ton.
Lead £25⅞ for spot and £25 future.
Spelter £38⅝ for spot and £30¾ future.
Standard Copper £62¼ for spot and £63⅛ for future delivery.
Electrolytic Copper £69⅝ for spot and £69⅝ future.
Tin £176 spot, against £174¾ last week and £177, against £175½, for future.
Pig Iron £4.12.0 per ton.
Scottish Pig Iron £95, against 102-6. per ton.
Iron Tees £10.10 per ton.
Boiler Plates £11 per ton.
Rails £8 per ton.

PIECE GOODS MARKET

There is again more interest shown in stocks and dealers are turning their attention now to Better Whites to a small extent against trade inquiry, but largely speculatively, as they feel prices should appreciate smartly before C. N. Year. They certainly would for all classes of goods if China were more settled, but at present we face chaotic conditions in several provinces and as it is hopeless to expect the necessary confidence to be fully restored by next Spring, it certainly behoves Importers to pursue a very cautious policy.

Clearances are smaller and as Tientsin and Newchwang are now practically closed, these Northern districts will only take limited quantities by rail until March. Local values are very steady and many advances have been readily paid this past week.

Although the English market is still reported firm, we hear of slight concessions being offered, but business is impossible. Makers' order books are apparently running low and with them it is a question of whether it is cheaper to shut down or accept business at a loss. The outlook is none too promising.

Notwithstanding the fact that shipments to Tsingtau are still practically suspended and that merchants therefore are averse to making fresh purchases, the offerings this week—practically the same quantities as last week—met with a very good reception, the better qualities of White Shirtings more particularly so. Local shopkeepers were keen buyers of the latter as, even at the recent advances, auction prices compare very favorably with those asked by private holders.
